ABOUT BUSINESS COACHING

It's not easy being a business owner, and taking a break from your business to manage or recover for an illness or injury can be difficult.

That's why we've partnered with Pivotal to offer you access to Business Coaching. This is a business mentoring service to assist people recovering from a health event to discover strategies for managing their business while prioritising their health and wellbeing.

This may include:

- Restarting or refreshing your business after a break
- Restructuring your business to adapt to your new health needs
- Getting a new business off the ground

Working with a business mentor typically involves:

- An initial meeting to understand your current business or business idea
- Collaboration and development of a business plan
- Regular catch-ups to discuss progress, develop strategy and implement an action plan
- Ongoing support when your business is up and running

FROM A RESTRUCTURE TO A NEW START, BUSINESS COACHING COVERS A RANGE OF BUSINESS NEEDS.

CONNECT WITH A SPECIALIST BUSINESS COACH FOR TAILORED SUPPORT TO KEEP YOUR BUSINESS AND YOUR HEALTH ON TRACK.

A PRACTICAL EXAMPLE*

Ian is a self-employed plumber who suffered a crush injury to his spine. Ian's business had several sub-contractors but most of his role was 'on the tools'.

After his injury, Ian was no longer able to do all the plumbing duties he had previously done.

OnePath connected Ian to the Business Coaching program where he was assigned the best-fit business mentor who understood the challenges of his business.

With support from his business mentor, Ian was able to expand his business and shift his role to a more hands-off role, thereby ensuring his business could continue to operate successfully, profitably and within his medical capabilities.
